We had some struggles at some point regarding the relevance of the project and what we consider relevant info for the survey and next steps but it was solved.

I am fully satisfied with the meeting and it's efficiency, points in the agenda has been fulfilled, communication was clear, needs were met, good teamworking environment.

Good time management, good team working, we created a draft of the survey and we got feedback in a very brief period of time.

A well-organized meeting and it didn't drag meaninglessly.

Was there anything you were missing?

For now no. Things got clarified.

I won't say that

No, everything was explained in a clear and transparent way.

I was missing a little game at the beginning of the second day like we experienced on the first day.

Any last words?
